Fearful Loss Of Life.

Some idea of the fearful loss of life in the European war is gained by the statement of English army officers now in the United States purchasing horses. When asked why interior mounts were purchased for cavalry they replied that as the average life of a horse on the great battle lines in France and Belgium is but three or four days there is no need of high bred horses whose lives would not last a week on the firing line. The comparative figures on the life of the soldiers of the several nations when actually in conflict has been estimated as follows: Germans, six days; French and Belgian, five days; English, seven days; Serbian, eight days; Russian, nine days. The average life of a horse for the same countries when used in the firing line is: German, three days; English and Belgian, four days; French, Russian and Serbian, five days. The average life of a man on the firing line, using the combined figures, is shown to be only six and five-sixths days and that of a horse four and one-third days. This awful mortality makes such bloody battles as Pickett's charge at Gettysburg and the fight at the "Bloody Angle" in our Civil War, and even the immortal charge of the Light Brigade in the Crimean War, seem commonplace and insignificant. Sale of Seals Begin November 26th.

Richmond, Va., Nov. 20.—To raise funds with which to keep a nurse in the field for the relief of the needy tuberculous of the State, the Virginia Anti-tuberculosis Association is preparing to inaugurate the customary annual sale of Red Cross Christmas seals on Thanksgiving day, next Thursday.

As in former years, the State Association will work in cooperation with a number of local agencies in most of the cities and towns of Virginia. In every instance, some charity or health endeavor is the local beneficiary of the sale, while the proceeds that accrue to the State Association go directly to tuberculosis work. Ten per cent of the money raised in Virginia goes to the National Association for the Study and Prevention of Tuberculosis, the great national agency which is directing the campaign against consumption in the United States.

Miss Agnes D. Randolph, former superintendent of the Memorial Hospital and now Executive Secretary of the State Anti-tuberculosis Association, is in general charge of the State campaign and is anxious to communicate with health organizations and kindred societies in towns where no agencies have yet been established for the sale of the seals.

Card of Thanks.

We wish to thank the people of Big Stone Gap for their kindness shown us since the loss of our home by fire, and especially the ladies. We hope the Lord will bless them.

Mrs. Wallace and family.

GOOD SUGGESTION TO BIG STONE GAP PEOPLE.

It is surprising the amount of old, foul matter the simple mixture of buckthorn bark, glycerine, etc., known as Adler-ika, drains from the system. This remedy became famous by curing appendicitis and acts on BOTH the upper and lower bowels so thoroughly that ONE DOSE relieves sour stomach, gas on the stomach and constipation almost IMMEDIATELY. We are mighty glad we are Big Stone Gap agents for Adler-ika. The Mutual Drug Company.
